

SarahEmily Pina, Manager of Conferences and Trainings

SarahEmily is responsible for the overall planning and implementation of conferences, training workshops, webinars, and special events at NCLC. She brings comprehensive knowledge and experience in development and event planning within nonprofit and academic settings. Prior to development work, SarahEmily taught and coordinated programs for adult English to Speakers of Other Languages (ESOL) both overseas with the Fulbright program, and within the Dorchester Vietnamese community in Boston. She holds a BM from Millikin University, a Masters of Music in Ethnomusicology from Northern Illinois University, and continues to engage with music by sitting on the boards of two prestigious choral ensembles.
