

Thomas A. Cox, Of Counsel

Thomas A. Cox joined National Consumer Law Center as Of Counsel in 2013 and focuses on foreclosure and mortgage issues. Tom is credited with exposing the national foreclosure “robo-signing” mortgage lenders’ scandal and has more than 30 years of private practice experience in residential and commercial loan documentation and litigation matters. Tom also has significant experience training other attorneys in residential foreclosure defense and litigation practices, and acted as a consultant to Maine’s Pine Tree Legal Assistance in managing the litigation strategies of its foreclosure prevention program. He has testified before the U.S. House Judiciary Committee and is the recipient of numerous awards. Tom received his J.D. from the Boston University School of Law.
